THE BATTLE OF USSAWATOMIE.

CAMP, BULL CREEK, Sept. 1, 1856. FRIEND GREEN: - We write to inform ou riends that we have had an engagement with he enemy, in which we were completely vic torious.

Evening before last (August 30,) 250 men were dispatched to Ossawatamie, about 30 miles from this place, the head quarters of the notorious Capt Brown. We made a forced march, traveiling all uight, and reached the place ahout an hour after sunrise. We had one six pounder. The enemy commenced firing on us at half a mile, which is point hlauk range for Sharpe's riftes. They had taken cover under a thick growth of underwood, and numbered about 150. Ve charged upon them, having to march 8 vards across an open prairie, against an unseen foe, through a hail storm of rifle hullets. Thi was done with a coolness and ability unsurpa-sed, until we got within fifty yards of then lace, with a loss of some twenty or thirty me place, with a loss of some twenty or thirly men killed.

We lost not a single man and had only five or six wounded. I had with me 50 of our men all of whom were in the hottest of the engagement, and distinguished themselves—they being about one-third ef all who were in the fight, so that we routed them from their covert man'o man. We had three men wounded, one badly and two slightly. We burned their town, and returned to camp last night about ten o'clock. Notwithstanding this brilliant success we found it impossible to march upon Lawrence for want of men and munitlons of war, and have fallen back upon Cedar Creek, to wait for reinforcements. Will Missouri forever slumber? If this expedition fails we have nothing to hope for! Is it possible we are to endure hardsnips and fatigness for nothing, and our friends not make a common cause with is? We ought to have 5,000 men to drive these cut

The crop of Florida, according to accounts, is more promising, on the whole, than those of the two old States. There, some are very good, while others are almost a total failure. A long continuance of the present wet weather must lead still more to the disappointment of the planter, while a most favorable fall cannot repair the damage already done.
